

The Daily Courant.

Monday, March 15. 1703.

London, March 14. To day came in the 3 Mails that were due from Holland.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 13.

Neurenberg, March 5.

Yesterday in the After-noon, at a Place 7 Miles from hence, General Stirum fell upon a great Body of Bavarians, of whom 500 were kill'd on the Place, and the rest put to flight. 12 Pieces of Cannon and 4 Mortars are sent from hence to that General. General Schlick on his side has taken Ried by Surprize.

From the Harlem Courant, dated March 17.

Nurenberg, March 6. On Sunday last General Stirum attack'd the Bavarians in their Lines between Nieumarck and Dittfort, kill'd 500 of them on the Spot, and took above 300; the Regiment of Count Tattenbach suffer'd most: On our side but 10 were kill'd and 20 wounded: After this, the Imperialists attack'd the little Town of Dittfort, garrison'd by 1 Battallion, and took it.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 17.

Munick, March 7. The Imperial Army under General Schlick, have forc'd the Bavarians in their Lines on the side of Saltzburg, and possess'd themselves of Ried, St. Martin, Arolts Munster and Zell. The Elector is march'd to Brannau to oppose their further Progress.

Heilbron, March 10. The Elector of Bavaria has drawn together an Army of 20000 Men, with which he is moving towards Scharding; he has with him a Train of 36 Pieces of Cannon and 6 Mortars, and 'tis thought designs to bombard Passau, because a great number of Bombs are sent from Munick. That Elector has another Body of 12 or 14000 Men, which is drawn together on the side of the Upper Austria. The Imperial Troops in Bohemia are to attack Amberg in the Upper Palatinare. The Bavarian Regiments of old Maffei and Tattenbach, with several Troops of the Militia, have been broken and defeated; Riedt, Scharding, and Dittfort are taken; and the Imperialists are marching to attack Kehlheim, situate 6 Leagues from the Danube, Garrison'd by 2000 Bavarians: General Schlick has publish'd and affix'd Placarts, in which he declares all the Officers of the Elector of Bavaria to be discharg'd of their Oaths; and that they shall be continued in their Offices, provided they will Swear Allegiance to the Emperor.

The Harlem Courant says, There were 250 Bavarians kill'd or taken in Riedt; and that Dittfort was plunder'd and then quitted by the Imperialists.

Ratisbon, March 8. The Envoy of the Elector of Bavaria having receiv'd Advice of the Irruption of the Imperialists under Count Schlick into Bavaria, on Tuesday an Extraordinary Council of the Diet was held; in which the said Envoy complain'd, that those Forces live at Discretion, and commit all Disorders like open and avow'd Enemies; That as these Actions have put an end to the Dispositions to peace that were in Agitation, his Master will make use of the Power, God has put into his Hands, to oppose Force with Force; not doubting to make appear, that 'tis not an easy matter to trample under Foot a Prince who has deserv'd so well of the Empire: Concluding that he hop'd the Diet would not approve of this Irruption. The Diet had some Consultations on this Affair Yesterday and to Day, and are preparing an Answer in the Name of the 3 Colleges.

Frankfort, March 11. 'Tis confirm'd on all hands, that the Count de Stirum has routed a great Body of Bavarians, killing about 500 Dragoons of the Regiment of Tattenbach, and taking 487 Prisoners. Count Schlick has likewise forc'd the Bavarian Lines, beaten the Troops that defended them, and taken several small Places. The Army of Prince Lewis of Baden at Bihl receives daily Reinforcements, inasmuch that his Horse can hardly find Subsistence.

From the Harlem Courant, dated March 20.

Frankfort, March 14. The Fort of Kehl after a very brave Resistance surrendred on the 9th. The Garrison capitulated to march out with 2 Pieces of Cannon, Colours flying, Drums beating and other usual Marks of Honour, together with their Baggage. Accordingly on the 11th they came out in good Order; First Rode 20 Curassiers of the Imperial Regiment of Zollern, the Baggage follow'd, then came the Governor the Baron van Etzberg, leading the Garrison, viz. a Regiment of the Forces of the Elector of Mentz, and the Swabian Regiments of Durlach, Furstenberg and Baden. They were convoy'd by the French to Stollhoffen. Of the Besieged 52 were kill'd, among them 2 Head-Officers, and 200 wounded; but the French lost 3000 Men either kill'd or wounded: 'Tis said the Enemies are now going to attack Friburg. P. S. Just now we have a Report, that the French have taken away the 2 Pieces of Cannon stipulated in the Capitulation, and brought them back to Kehl; but this requires Confirmation. Yesterday in the Morning the Imperialists invested Neumark, and Artillery is sent to them from Neurenberg to batter that Place.

The Dutch Succours consisting of 12 compleat Regiments are advanc'd as far as Spiers.

From the Paris Gazette, dated March 17.

Paris, March 17. On the 13th of this Month, the Marquess de St. Hermine brought the News of the Taking of Fort Kehl, 12 days after the opening of the Trenches. On the 9th at 4 a clock in the Afternoon, the besieged beat a Parley, and accepted the Conditions which the Marshal de Villars had offer'd them, which are, That the Garrison should march out on the 11th with Arms and Baggage, without Cannon or Mortars, and be conducted to Philipsburg. By the taking of this Fort, the Passage of his Majesty's Armies into Germany to assist the Elector of Bavaria his Ally, whom the Emperor is going to attack with all his Forces, is rendred more commodious.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 13.

Frankfort, March 7. 'Tis advis'd, That 1500 Hussars have made an Incurfion towards Lorrain, and have taken from a Party of French, near the Moselle, 1 Kettle-Drum, 2 Standards, and 12 Led Horses, and cut off the famous Party Leader Le Bruyn

Brun with 30 Men, not far from Sarlouis. In their return by Zabern, they met with 3 Waggon laden with Money, convoy'd by 500 Men, whom they cut off, took the Money, which amounted to 400000 Rixdollars, and carry'd it into Landau.

From the Paris Gazette, dated March 17.

Metz, March 9. The Marquis de Varennes Lieutenant General, march'd out of Sarlouis with a Body of 2000 Men, and 2 pieces of Cannon, to attack the little Town of St. Vandel 5 Leagues beyond Sarlouis; He took his way notwithstanding it rain'd all the while, through by-roads, that the Enemy might have no Information of his March; and on the 14th instant at 11 in the Morning came before St. Vandel. He order'd a Detachment to post themselves on the Road to Homburg, by which the Garrison might escape, and having caus'd the Place to be view'd by the Sieur de Perri, order'd him to possess himself of a House situate near the Ditch and Pallisades. Then the Enemy who had no Notice of the March of these Troops, fir'd very briskly at that House. The Marquis caus'd the rest of the Infantry to advance, and the Cavalry to extend themselves wide in front on the Top of the Hill by which he came. The Enemy took them to be the Van of the Army, and offer'd to capitulate; But all other Terms were refus'd them, except surrendering at Discretion, to which they yielded. They march'd out to the Number of 450 Men, half of them being of the Elector Palatine's Regiment of Guards, commanded by the Sieur Robiant Lieutenant Colonel of that Regiment, and were conducted to Sarlouis. The Town was pillag'd, in it were found 300 Horses, a great Number of Cattle, and much other Booty, together with 8 Colours. Of the Kings Troops, but 4 Soldiers were kill'd and 3 wounded, tho' the Place was defended by a strong Wall, a large Ditch, and a double Pallisade. While the Troops were entering into this Town, the Marquis de Varennes detach'd 300 Horse to invest Otweiler, a little Town between Sarlouis and St. Vandel, garrison'd by 200 Germans, who being advertis'd of the March of these Horse, retir'd out of it with so much Precipitation, that they left all their Baggage behind. After which the Marquis return'd with his Prisoners to Sarlouis.

From the Amsterd. Courant, dated March 15.

Wesel, March 10. Two famous Party Leaders (one of which commanded the Party that surpriz'd the Duke of Marlborough on the Maes in the end of the last Campaign) with 14 Soldiers, of the Garrison of Gelder, are brought Prisoners hither. They went out to surprize the Lieutenant Colonel of Prince Phillips Regiment of Horse in Schieban near Nuys, and had already taken 6 Standards and 2 Kettle Drums; when the Lieutenant Colonel, whose Name is Blankensee, hearing the Noise of the Enemy about his Lodgings, leap'd out of Bed, and not having time to put on his Cloaths, catch'd up his Weapons, shot one of the French who was coming in at his Chamber-Door, kill'd another with his Sword, and so gain'd time to get out of the Window; then rallied his Men, fell upon the Enemy, retook all the Booty, and made half of the Party Prisoners.

Hague, March 18. Yesterday (being Saturday) in the Afternoon, the Duke of Marlborough arriv'd at Rotterdam; and in the Evening came hither to his Lodgings in Prince Maurice's House. The Generals Auverquerque and Dopf, who are arriv'd here from Germany, and General Coehorn from Flanders, as also my Lord Pager from Rotterdam, have waited on his Excellency to congratulate his safe Arrival.

London, March 15. Letters from the West-Indies that arriv'd on Friday last, advise, That on the 9th of January at Noon, a Fire broke out in Port-Royal in Jamaica which in 4 hours time consum'd the greatest part of that Town. That the Storeships which went from Ireland are arriv'd at Jamaica. That the Men of War with the Land Forces on Board that were dispatch'd from Cadiz by Sir George Rooke, are arriv'd at Barbadoes: Where are likewise arriv'd 6 East-India Merchants Ships; viz. the Scipio, Herne, Martha, China Merchant, Rising Sun and Rooke. And that Sir William Norris in his passage homewards died near the Cape of Good Hope of the Bloody Flux after a long Sickness. He was 44 Years old; and by his Decease 700 Pounds a Year is fallen to Christ's Hospital.
